QUIETLY LAID TO REST.

FUNERAL CEREMONIES OVER THE FIVE DEAD ANARCHISTS.

The Largest Demonstration of the Kind Ever Witnessed in Chicago—Thousands Take Part in the Funeral Exercises.
Music, Banners and Flowers.

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—The five dead leaders of Anarchy were laid to rest Sunday afternoon. Not an English malefactor would have been, with a hole in prison corridor for a grave, and a load of quick lime for a bed, but laid to rest in a beautiful garden of the dead, beneath a mountain of fragrant flowers, amid the music of bands, solemn-chants, passionate oratory and the tears of thousands. Scarce less honor could have been paid the hero or patriarch than were showered by their sympathizers upon the caskets that contained the mortal remains of the Anarchists Spies, Parsons, Engel, Fischer and Lingg.

Sober, thoughtful men who saw the great outpouring of people, who were confronted with the red emblems of the Communists at every turn, who listened to the strains of the "Marseillaise," asked each other as to what it signified. Wait the last expiring gasp of the social revolution! Or was it not to Chicago and the United States that the "King is dead! Long live the King!"

Never before had the Milwaukee avenue district, that hot bed of Anarchism—the "Faubourg St. Denis," of Chicago—held such a concourse as was assembled within its premises at noon yesterday. For a distance of three miles and more roadway and sidewalk, walks, windows and roofs were black with men, women and children.

Four thousand persons gathered around the house where Spies lived and viewed his remains. The procession moved from here, and on its way stopped to be enlarged by the hearses bearing the bodies of Engel, Lingg, Fischer and Parsons.

There were at least fifteen bands in the procession, all of which struck up a dirge in passing the scene of the Haymarket riot.
The procession was made up of the defense committee, Aurora Turnverein, Vorwärts Turner society, one hundred of the Vor-schritt branch and Central Labor Union.
The hearers were remarkably noticeable.
In the first one bearing Spies' remains was the black coffin over which was thrown a red sail. The top of the hearse was a mass of flowers. Fischer's hearse was not so profusely decorated. Over Parsons' coffin was a narrow red ribbon tied in one end and trailing over the casket. On the top of the funeral carriage was an immense floral tribute of Knights of Labor Assembly 1307. Over the coffins containing Engel and Lingg were the red banners for which they fought and died.

The procession was followed by thousands, the majority of whom were women wearing conspicuous red garments.

From the Wisconsin Central depot the bodies and funeral party took the special train to Waldheim. The remains were deposited in a little vault, and Captain Black delivered the opening funeral oration. Editor Betzold, of Detroit, T. J. Morgan, the Socialist, and Albert Currier, formerly of the Arbitrator Zeitung, followed, and it was dark when the crowd left the cemetery.

The Anarchists Put to Work.
JOLIET, Ill., Nov. 15.—Fielden and Schwab, the Anarchists, were taken this morning from their cell in the court solitary and assigned to duty, and given a cell in the eastern cell house. On account of his poor health, Schwab was put to work in the convict kitchen, where the food for the prisoners is prepared. Fielden has been assigned to the cut-stone department, and will probably do labor work. Both men wrote letters to their wives yesterday.

Water Famine in Illinois.

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—The probabilities of a water famine in central and southern Illinois are becoming alarming. At Springfield up to and including yesterday, there is a deficiency of 15 inches of rain fall for the year as compared with the average precipitation of the same portion of the year for the last eight years. Up to July 1 there was a slight excess over the average, so that the deficiency has all accrued since then.
On account of the long drought preceding the October dryness the water supply is at a minimum. A United States deputy marshal, just returned from Hamilton county, says he found the farmers there hauling water ten miles for culinary uses.

One-Third of a Town Burned.
ST. PETER, Minn., Nov. 15.—A fire started in the bar of the Northwestern hall Saturday night. The wind was strong and everything was so dry that the flames were uncontrollable. Thirty buildings were destroyed, including two hotels, the First National bank, several large stores and barns, restaurants, military stores, saloons, and the American Express office. Loss $10,000.
One-third of the business portion of the city is destroyed.

Tried to Burn Herself to Death.

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—Mildred Tyler, aged thirty, colored, attempted suicide yesterday by a novel method, and will die. She soaked her night dress with kerosene and applied a match to it. The pain caused her to report of her rash action and call for help. She was horribly burned before the flames were extinguished.

Will Not Be Recognized.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—President Day, of the New York club, says: "I do not think that the League will recognize the Brotherhood as a body. The League will never send for it, at all events. If the Brotherhood comes to the meeting and asks for a hearing it will be heard. Otherwise it will never get there."

A $50,000 Fire.

HAMILTON, Penn., Nov. 15.—The large coal breaker of George H. Myers & Co., at Yorktown, four miles from here, was totally destroyed by fire early this morning. It was one of the largest breakers in the region.
The fire was the work of an incendiary.
Loss $50,000; partially insured.

Ordered to Be Closed.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 15.—Superintendent of Public Works Shanahan has ordered state canals closed December 1.

REV. HADDOCK'S MURDERERS.

Prospect of Justice Being Done at the Second Trial.

SIOUX CITY, Iowa, Nov. 15.—All the sequential incidents created by and surrounding the arrest, trial and conviction of Munchrath for alleged complicity in the murder of Rev. George C. Haddock have been reawakened by the commencement of the second trial of John Arensford on a similar charge. The public sentiment aroused by the recapitulation of all the evidence surrounding the terrible tragedy would appear to indicate but little hope of a favorable result of a new trial. Upon Arensford's former trial the jury stood eleven for acquittal and only one for conviction. The solitary outstanding juror could not be won over, and since last March the public feeling has very materially changed, and not to the advantage of the accused.

The belief that the organman's murder was the result of a conspiracy in which several were involved is sustained by the avowed and bitter hostility shown by the saloonkeepers to the minister who brought so many of the illegal liquor sellers to trial and punishment. A very curious and inexplicable incident of this case, which is not yet fairly unraveled, although the inquiry is being persevered in, is that connecting Albert Koslinski, alias "Bismarck," with the charge. He is one of the group indicted for the assassination of Rev. Haddock, and is the one with Leavitt whose evidence is so damaging to Arensford. While actually under an indictment for murder, he applied for naturalization papers, and was duly made a citizen of the United States. It is sought to be shown by this incident that political animosities somewhat extensively color the forthcoming trial, and that owing to the feeling between Koslinski and Arensford the latter's chances for an impartial trial are likely to be diminished.
Arensford is held on $25,000 bonds to appear.

ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The Herald's Chicago dispatch says that an attempt was made yesterday morning to assassinate Private Bell of the Second regiment. Bell was on guard on the outside of the armory on Washington boulevard, when he was startled by the report of a gun and a bullet whistled past his ear. The shot came from the direction of the coat shells, from which a similar attempt at murder was made against Officer Smith during the excitement of Friday.

Curiosity, mingled with unselfishness, was felt there last night over the appearance of the following mystical inscription written on sidewalks and buildings in all parts of the city: "Der alte Lehman soll heirathen." This in English means Lehman intends to get married, and is evidently a secret signal or mot d'ordre previously agreed upon for concerted action.

SITTING BULL TIRED OF WAR.

PIERRE, Dak., Nov. 15.—Sitting Bull and a number of his people, who have been on a visit to Cheyenne agency, were in the city yesterday. Sitting Bull says he is sorry that the Crow outbreak occurred, and that he is tired of war and will advise his young people to remain upon the agency. Gaul, who led the Indians in the Custer fight, said:
"I have not always felt friendly to the whites. I fought them and tried to kill them; but am willing to take men and help the white." Both chiefs say they and their people will oppose the sovereignty bill, as under it will be years before they will receive pay for their lands. They say they will agree to abide by the provisions of the Dawes bill for opening a portion of the reservation, claiming that by its passage they will receive more for their lands.

A $150,000 WRECK.

PATERSON, N. J., Nov. 15.—Freight train No. 36 on the Erie railroad, an extra eastbound, broke in two near Suffern, at 5 o'clock this morning. Twenty cars containing flour were totally demolished and several others broken up. The debris covered the tracks for hundreds of feet. Watson Winnie, brakeman, aged twenty-five, was severely injured. Traffic on the road was stopped for several hours. The damage to the rolling stock and freight will aggregate $150,000.

A JUSTICE OLD MAN'S TERRIBLE DEED.

GAINESVILLE, Ga., Nov. 15.—T. A. Dillard is one of the oldest citizens in Grinnell county. Lately he has grown jealous of his wife, who is the mother of eleven children, and swore out warrants against her and Henry West, sixteen years old. Returning home he procured a gun and struck his wife a terrible blow across the head with it, knocking her senseless. He then inflicted another wound which is probably fatal.
Dillard has been arrested.

CONFERENCE OF MINERS.

BRAZIL, Ind., Nov. 15.—A conference between the executive board of the Miners' Federation and District Assembly 135, Knights of Labor, will be held at Columbus, O., November 16, to outline a plan of action, and to call a convention in January, to which those two powerful rivals among the miners may be brought into harmony of action. If the plan succeeds it is thought that the miners will leave the Knights and join the federation.

FEAR MAN.

CELINA, O., Nov. 15.—Probate Judge Putenkamp has been busy for two days examining into the sanity of Griffith Pond, who lives near Tama, this county, and who has twenty-four children, buried three wives and spent about $10,000 trying to get another one. His children have finally asked the court to intercede and appoint a guardian for him. He was adjudged in one of them, who will be appointed later.

DRY-MATE BOMB IN A FREIGHT CAR.

PERU, Ind., Nov. 15.—The station agent of the Chicago & Atlantic at Rochester yesterday discovered a dynamite bomb in a freight car. The bomb was made of a piece of gas pipe with a fuse at one end and a cartridge in the other. The dangerous missile was handed to the police, and, with fuse removed was placed on exhibition.

FELL FROM A BRIDGE.

DELAWARE, O., Nov. 15.—Mathias Gainer, of Dayton, O., engaged in putting in the new iron bridge over the Olentangy river, on the B&O railroad, by the slipping of an iron girder, was pushed off the structure, and fell to the water beneath, a distance of about fifty-five feet, sustaining very severe internal injuries.

WAS BOOTH AN ANARCHIST?

LINCOLN'S ASSASSINATION RECALLED BY THE CHICAGO HANGING.

A Part of the Contents of John Wilkes Booth's Diary That Was Never Published Before—The President at Work on His Message—Other News.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The assassination of President Lincoln by John Wilkes Booth and the hanging of Payne, Atzerod, Harold and Mrs. Surratt as principals and access-aries in that crime have been vividly recalled within the past few days by circumstances connected with the trial and execution of the Chicago Anarchists and also by the prominent figure cut in the Anarchistic cases by Gen. B. F. Butler in the supreme court of the United States. The charge has frequently been made that Mrs. Surratt, one of the persons who was tried and executed for the murder of President Lincoln, was illegally hung; that she was an "innocent woman."

Gen. Butler, on the floor of the house, repeatedly made a similar statement, and claimed that the diary of the assassin Booth, on file in the war department, sustained the allegations as to the innocence of Mrs. Surratt. With but one exception, none of the gentlemen who relied on the contents of the Booth diary had ever seen that book, which was then locked up in an iron safe in the war department and public examination of it was refused by order of Secretary Stanton. A few days ago the correspondent obtained permission of the secretary of war and made a copy of the contents of the diary. It is as follows:

"April 14, Friday. The idea. Until today nothing was ever thought of sacrificing to our country's wrongs. For four months we had worked to capture, but our cause was almost lost something decisive and great must be done. But its failure was owing to others, who didn't strike for their country with heat. I struck boldly and not as the papers say. I walked with a firm step through a thousand of friends—was stopped and pushed on. The colonel was at his side, I shouted so sharp before I fired, and in jumping broke my leg. I passed all the pickets; rode sixty miles that night with the bone of my leg tearing the flesh at every jump.
I can never repeat it. Though we hated to kill, our country owed all her troubles to him. God simply made me the instrument of his punishment. The country is not what I have loved. I care not what becomes of me. I have no desire to outlive my country. The night before the day I wrote a long letter and left it for one of the editors of the National Intelligencer, in which I fully set forth our reason for our proceedings.
Ho! or the south?" At the top of another page is resumed as follows below:

HONORING THE DEAD.

Order of Exercises at the Unveiling of the Statue to Gen. John C. Breckinridge.

The statue erected at Lexington in honor of General John C. Breckinridge will be unveiled to-morrow, and it is expected that the event will attract a large crowd to that city from every section of the State.

The programme arranged by the Breckinridge Memorial Committee is as follows:

Exercises begin at eleven o'clock sharp. They will be opened with prayer by Rev. Dr. J. J. Bullock, of Washington, D. C., who was Chaplain of the United States Senate when General Breckinridge was Vice-President.

Address by Senator Jas. B. Beck, giving a history of the Breckinridge Memorial Association.

Address by Mr. E. V. Valentine, the sculptor, delivering the statue to the association.

Address by Major R. S. Bullock, receiving the statue on behalf of the association and delivering it to the State.

Address by Governor S. B. Buckner, receiving the statue on behalf of the State.

Address by Senator Jo C. S. Blackburn upon the life and services of General Breckinridge.

If the weather be bad the addresses will be delivered in the opera house, but if good, on the grounds.

The exercises will close with prayer by Rev. Dr. J. D. Pickett.

Bright Outlook for the Democracy.

The result of the recent elections in New York, Virginia and Maryland settles the Presidential problem and foresees Democratic supremacy for the next five years.

The New York Republicans had their best material in the field, and made all the fight they were capable of making, in order, if possible, to wreck the chance of Cleveland's renomination, and thus eliminate from the coming National political battle administrative support. That New York remains the great pivotal State is manifested beyond question, and New York's continuance in the Democratic column means Cleveland's renomination and triumphant election for a second term.

It appears as if the Republican party had lost that grip and resistless energy which once characterized it, and that the mantle of those men who in the years past led it to victory had fallen upon the shoulders of inferior leaders who are unable to unite in solid columns the hosts, scattered by the jealousies of Blaine, Conklin and Sherman.

The result shows that the Henry George movement cannot shake the loyalty of Democrats to their party, and gives evidence that the attempts of the Republican bosses to keep alive the sectional hate engendered by the war have been futile in the face of a prosperous and rejuvenated Union, strengthened and welded by the strong arm of Democracy, with its gallant and loyal leaders on the quarter deck of the old ship of State.

Among the petit jurors for the December term of the United States District Court at Covington are: W. T. Dye, of Sardinia; J. D. Cushman, of Dover; W. S. E. Bell and J. C. Waught, of Flemingsburg; B. F. Samuel, of Poplar Plains; William Bell, of Elizaville; Joseph Tucker, of Washington; Richard Tyler, of Augusta, and Joseph W. Cottingham, of Vanceburg. Among the grand jurors are: Abraham Sallee, of Augusta; John R. Carpenter, of Flemingsburg; William Garvey, of Elizaville, and Sam. H. Booth, of Sharpsburg. The criminal docket only contains at present about forty cases, but this will be swelled fully seventy-five more. There are two counterfeiters, two postoffice robbers and three men who will answer for violating the pension laws. The civil docket contains several large land and damage suits.

By almost a unanimous vote the little town of Higginsport, O., gives $5,000 to have a saw and planing mill established there. This shows that the people down there are alive to their interests. The proprietors of a boot and shoe factory employing nearly one hundred hands, and a large candy factory are anxious, we understand, to remove to Maysville. If these two establishments could be secured it would give the city a little boom that would no doubt lead to still better things.

Inventor Edison's Method of Fun. A reporter casually met Mr. Edison this week, and he happened to be in more than his usually jolly mood—and by the way he is apparently in the rudest health and best of spirits. To the inquiry if he had anything new Mr. Edison replied:

"Yes, I have made a fresh discovery of no little importance—a great advance in electric art—tested its practicability and realized success; but I will not name it now. Heretofore when I have invented or discovered something and published its details the scientific papers have soon after teemed with announcements of anticipations, prior experiments, hints about piracy and stolen thunder, etc. According to these I have never produced a prototype, nothing but poor, miserable little antitypes. Now, this time I'm going to have some fun with the boys. My new discovery is fully recorded, but I will not publish it for six months! You may give this formal notice, so that the bibliophiles and prior inventors may have the first chance, with lots of time to get the laugh on me. As the oil men say, I'm down to the 'oil sand,' but propose to plug the well and hold it as a 'mystery' for six months. If, meantime, no claimant appears with a full description of the 'mystery' I'll draw the plug, and I think I'll be entitled to nail my sign on that property."—Electrical Review.

The Canes of the Dudes.

The canes of the dudes take on wondrous forms. Ed Knox, who went over to London this summer, told me something about it the other day. The stick itself is nothing. It may be bamboo, rattan or witch hazel. But the head is the thing. The real English fashion is to have the head so large and so odd that no one can have anything like it. These heads are of carved and stained ivory or silver. Representations of crocodiles' heads, elephants' heads, turbaned Turks, swarthy negroes, dogs, horses, birds and rabbits are all brought into use.

One cane made in London for a special New York order is the head of a member of the Old Guard with his bear skin cap. It is of silver. Another is a globe with a map of the world, and still another is a cigarette and match box combined. Among horsemen the fashionable thing is to have a hollow stick like a sword cane, from which may be drawn a measure for the height of horses. The ugly dog of Mephistopheles is utilized as a cane ornament by a Fifth avenue saunterer, and some Englishmen carry ivory busts of Queen Victoria since the jubilee. The cost of such canes is $25 to $75.—New York Tribune.

Danger in Flour Dust.

Be careful in handling naked lights around bolting chests. Not long ago a correspondent entered a mill and found the miller searching for his hair, eyebrows and beard. He was inspecting a bolting chest, using an unprotected light to illuminate the interior. No sooner was the light thrust into the chest than the miller was startled by a flash and a shock. When he picked himself up his head was as bald as a celluloid billiard ball and his flowing beard was floating around the mill in gaseous form, sensible only to the nose. Fortunately the fire did not spread and the accident was not reported.—Milling World.

Chinese Emigration Made Easy.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—The announcement that United States Judge Sawyer has discharged sixty-two Chinese on habeas corpus at the session of his court on Friday caused a profound flurry and surprise among customs officials and the public generally. Many of the coolies who successfully passed the inquisition of the court are known to have been fresh arrivals, without a particle of knowledge of the climatic or topographical condition of this country. Customs officers state that, in face of evidence gathered by them, the Federal courts have discharged one petition after another. Port Collector Haiger feels aggrieved that the earnest work done by his office in attempting to frustrate fraud upon the restriction act should meet with so little commendation and encouragement as is given by the United States courts.

Accidentally Shot.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 15.—George Cumpston, aged fifteen, accidentally shot Albert Bowles, aged ten, at Madisonville, O., Sunday afternoon. Both are colored. Cumpston went to Albert's house to get him to go to Sunday school. Albert's parents being out the boys ransacked the house and found a .32-caliber revolver. Albert exclaimed: "Look out, it won't stand cocked." But Cumpston thought he knew it all, and tried it, when it discharged, the ball lodging in Albert's neck. The wound is a dangerous one.

Bankers and Brokers Assain.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—A. S. Hatch & Co., bankers and brokers, have just announced their suspension. Brokers say that Hatch & Co. were operating largely on the "bear" side of the stock market and their suspension is due to heavy losses sustained by today's rise in prices. It is not thought that their liabilities will be heavy, as they made some private settlements this afternoon, and their outstanding contracts were comparatively small.

Died on His Wedding Eve.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 15.—Edward Wells, a rich young farmer of Oxford, O., who had been in Texas for some time to recover his health, was on a train near Parsons, Kan., last Thursday en route to this city to be intermarried with Miss Elliot, of Mt. Auburn. He was suddenly missed from the train, and a searching party found him lying in a clump of bushes near the track in a fit of delirium. He never recovered consciousness, and died soon after being taken to his home.

Texas Assassination.

JEFFERSON, Tex., Nov. 15.—Some unknown person shot Peter Wright in the head with a load of bird shot while he was in his own house with his family around him Saturday night. Both doors to his house were open and tracks showed that the assassin crept up to within a few yards of the door. No cause can be given in explanation of the deed. This is the second assassination in the same neighborhood within the last week. Sheriff Dewart yesterday arrested Nathan Phillips on suspicion.

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 15.—Peter Deegan has been found guilty of horse stealing and sentenced to twenty years in the state prison. The defense will take an appeal.

LIBERTY, Ind., Nov. 15.—Joseph McMurt has been found guilty of horse stealing and sentenced to three years in the penitentiary. He is only twenty-one years old and has served one term already in Jeffersonville,

A Cold-Blooded Murder.

JEFFERSON, Texas, Nov. 15.—The most cold-blooded murder ever committed in this county occurred Saturday night, eight miles from this city. Some unknown person shot Peter Wright in the head with a load of bird shot while he was in his own house with his family around him. No cause can be given in explanation of the deed. This is the second assassination in the same neighborhood within the last week. The other victim was Ike Walker. Sheriff Dewart arrested Nathan Phillips on suspicion of being the assassin.

An Interesting Lecture.

The temperance lecture at St. Patrick's Church last night, under the auspices of the Father Mathew Total Abstinence Society of this city, was well attended, the edifice being packed to its fullest capacity.

Father Bond, the young Redemptorist, selected for his text the following: "Be not deceived, the drunkard shall not enter the kingdom of heaven," taken from St. Paul's Epistle to the Corinthians.

The Reverend Father pictured the many evils of intemperance to his hearers in that plain, yet forcible, manner which is characteristic of his addresses.

The lecture certainly had a good effect as some took the pledge from Father Bond at the close of his remarks. A number of others have signified their intention of becoming members of the society.

The lecture closed with the members of the society renewing the pledge, and with the benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Thanksgiving Services.

For some years it has been the custom for the churches of Maysville to hold a union Thanksgiving service in some one of the churches, with a sermon by one of the resident pastors.

As the longest settled pastor in Maysville, the duty devolves upon me of calling a meeting of the pastors to arrange a programme for this service. I therefore request that all the ministers, whose churches take part in this annual meeting, will meet at my residence, No. 13, Front street, this (Tuesday) afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

R. B. GARRETT,
Pastor Baptist Church.

SOL'S BRIGHT EYES.

Interesting Sketch of a Famous Comedian—How He Made Fame and Fortune.

Sol Smith Russell is essentially a manly man. Added to his remarkable artistic powers is a nobility of nature that rarely meets with on the stage or off it. He is the kind of man that impresses one with his lunate manhood.

Russell is a peculiarly happy genius. He has a distinct individuality. His humor is of the best sort. It is entirely free from grossness. It is spontaneous, natural, exquisite. It is light, airy, and delicious. He does a thousand things whose sole object is to make laugh and few people have been so successful as he in this undertaking.

The genial comedian is a rich man now, but few people have gone through more than he has to arrive at the eminence where he now stands. His life's history is interesting and very amusing.

"My early experiences were rather unusual," he remarked with his pleasant smile. "You see I started out rather young. I was always infatuated with the stage. You know that my uncle, Sol Smith, was an actor. Before I was out of distresses I gave shows at home. Well, when I was about 12, a show came along in Jacksonville, Ill., where I was living with my folks. I ran away and joined it. The company was not a large one—it consisted of three people, including myself. We gave a minstrel performance, and it was not so very bad, either. One of them played the banjo, the other the tambo, and I played the bones. We walked from town to town, giving shows. Sometimes we would open in a school house, sometimes in the dining room of a hotel, or, in fact, wherever we could get a place. We did not long for a big house in those days. We did not want to get rich in one season. If we had $100 cents in the house we were doing a good business and if there was $1 in the house the business was something tremendous. We knew that we would not have to go hungry the next day. One time we had $145 to the house. The company came near going to pieces right there. The great success nearly turned the heads of all of us.

"I was in that 'company' a while and then went home. I wasn't contented and ran a way a number of times. I went all through the South during the war with different companies which followed the army. I would go home for a few weeks but couldn't content myself.

"The first regular engagement that I got was at Cairo, Ill., in the DeLancey Theater. I was then about 15. I sang between the pieces and played nubility parts, which means anything from a ballet girl to a warrior. I also played the snare drum in the orchestra and carried bundles for the actors. I received a salary of $6.00 per week. Of this I paid $3.50 for board. I slept in the theater.

"I was always very studious, and at this time I worked very hard. I used to read plays and then play them myself. I would arrange the stage and go through the whole play as it would be done by night. After I left Cairo I went to St. Louis, where I got an engagement as second low comedian. Afterwards I became a full low comedian.

"Then I went to Milwaukee at Daigle's theater. I was the low comedian and I also sang comic songs and played character parts. Then the Peabody family came along. They were the concert troupe and bell ringers. I joined them. They took me on trial. But they kept me so long without salary that I became weary and went back to Daigle's. But I rather liked the respectability of the family, and after a while I went back to them. They made me one of the family. The family was not supposed to receive any salary. They had their hand paid and clothes furnished them. I was then not much over 15 years.

"Along about '66 I resolved to carry out the idea of giving a performance all alone. I started out with three people, a violinist, a pianist and a singer. I gave nearly the whole show, which consisted of songs, sketches and readings. Sometimes I would give it in a theater and sometimes under the auspices of a church. I was then in the lecture field. That meant that I could give my entertainment in a church without shocking the very exacting members. I kept this up for several years. It was in '74 that I went to New York and in the Olympic Theater made the hit of my life. I got offers from managers all over the country, and accepted one from Augustin Daly, at the Fifth Avenue Theater. I remained there several years and went starring with the Berger family. We were quite successful. Afterwards I returned to Daly's where I remained until '81, when I started out in 'Edgewood Folks.' It was a great success. I played it for five years. It was followed with 'Felix McKittrick,' then 'Pa,' and now I have 'Bewitched,' which is the best of them all.

"I am fully determined to leave the stage. Indeed, I am although I do not tell very often now. Every one who knows me is aware that I don't do it. Still, I have made all my arrangements, and this is my last season.

"When I get through this year I am coming right back to Minneapolis, where I will settle down and become a staid man of business."

Messrs. THOMAS F. COLE and George Pope have finished papering and painting my residence. The job was well done, and I can cheerfully recommend them as first-class workmen. Is It Not Singular that consumptives should be the least apprehensive of their own condition, while all their friends are urging and beseeching them to be more careful about exposure and overdoing. It may well be considered one of the most alarming symptoms of the disease, where the patient is reckless and will not believe that he is in danger. Reader, if you are in this condition, do not neglect the only means of recovery. Avoid exposure and fatigue, be regular in your habits, and use faithfully of Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery." It has saved thousands who were steadily failing.

THE NEWS FROM ABROAD.

A SUNDAY RIOT IN TRAFALGAR SQUARE IN LONDON.

Two Hundred Persons Injured and Fifty Arrests Made—General Bonaparte Released From Arrest—Condition of the Crown Prince—Other Foreign News.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—As was expected last week, the police and Radicals collided at Trafalgar square, Sunday. Sir Charles Warren, head of the police department, is a Liberal leader, and not until it was proven to him that the square was the crown's property did he forbid the meeting. The various Socialist and Radical clubs, however, met, and following out the Pali Mail Gazette's advice, decided to defy the police proclamation.

Four thousand policemen were stationed about the square in such a manner as not to interfere with vehicular passage, but to prevent the entrance of a crowd.

Early in the morning the radicals met and the procession started, headed by brass bands. All the way along the route thieves, pickpockets and highwaymen fell in line and the demonstration assumed monstrous proportions. As fast as the detachments came to the square they were attacked and dispersed, only to double in number and again press forward.

The police were merciless, apparently believing that if they did not succeed in dispersing the crowd they would themselves be routed and treated without mercy. The hardest fighting was in Northumberland avenue; but this was a general encounter at all the streets debouching upon the square. Hundreds of persons, including numbers of women, were injured more or less severely. They were conveyed to hospitals as soon as possible.

The leaders of the mob seemed to be young toughs from the East End. At 4 o'clock Sir Charles Warren gave up the attempt to control the crowd with the police force at his disposal and called upon the military authorities for assistance. A detachment of mounted and foot life guards quickly responded, having been held in readiness for such an emergency. Their appearance with fixed bayonets, together with that of large reinforcements of police, resulted in the crowd being overawed, and the streets were cleared. Most of the people seemed by common consent to take up their march for Hyde park. A magistrate who had come with the military to read the riot act remained on the ground, but he had no occasion to read the act.

During the conflicts between the police and people no less than 200 suffered scalp wounds and fifty were arrested, among them R. C. Graham, M. P., and John Burns, the Socialist leader.

Seventy-five charges were entered to-day at the Bow-street police court against the Trafalgar Square rioters of yesterday. Most of the prisoners escaped with a fine but some were sentenced to four and six months' imprisonment at hard labor.

The Continental Spot.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Bismarck has at last given the czar a stunning blow with his "good left." The German warrior has been rather sore since Russia revisited her tariff list and gave the Teutons a most fearful snub, while France got all the meat out of the revision. Prince Bismarck's recent order to the Imperial Prussian bank to refuse further negotiations in Russian securities may cap the climax.

Germany stands like a bear surrounded by dogs who give their hated adversary plenty of room, but keep up a disagreeable snarling and barking all the time. Russia is afraid to tackle Germany since the triple alliance. When arbitration and patience are exhausted an effort will probably be made to draw France into the alliance with Russia. This concentration of power would make a mighty army, and a war under these circumstances would doubtless bankrupt continental Europe and leave Spain ruder of all since she has carefully guarded her stand of neutrality.

Condition of the Crown Prince.

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—The crown prince's nerve is something wonderful. He fully realises that his life on life will soon be assaulted, and he reads all the newspaper articles with apparent indifference. While with her husband the princess bears up well; but not in his presence she is given to the most fearful nervous fits.

Dr. Mackenzie thinks an operation should be made at San Remo, but the German physicians want it deferred until the prince is removed to Berlin. The prince is in excellent health otherwise and takes long walks daily.

A large amount of jealousy exists among the doctors and the German people seem to join hands with the German doctors in thinking Mackenzie an intruder. Already the English doctor has received anonymous letters of warning. He in turn says the German physicians are too much on the "kill or cure" order.

Boulangier at Liberty.

PARIS, Nov. 15.—As the clock at Clermont-Ferrand announced the hour of noon Sunday, Gen. Boulangier buckled on his sword and came out of arrest. His first request was to keep down the seal of his ill advised friends, and to avoid a crowd he drove to Riom. He left the train near Paris and drove to the city, keeping out of the way of all demonstrations.

Big Fire in Brussels.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 15.—The public buildings containing the ministerial departments were visited by fire this morning. The department of agriculture was completely burned, and Minister Moreau, with his wife and family, were forced to fly for their lives. Other parts of the building were barely saved. The damage was very great.

Trying to Compromise.

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—Committees from the Typists and the striking job printers met at 10 o'clock this morning for the purpose of effecting a settlement of existing differences. The meeting was brought about through the pressmen's union. Both committees of seven members each have full power to act, and, though a settlement is not expected at the first meeting, it is believed that it will not be long delayed.

Found in a Cornfield.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—A special to the World from Woodbury, N. Y., say that the old coat and waistcoat of George McC. Dunham was found yesterday in the cornfield where Dunham's mother-in-law was murdered a few days ago. The clothing is covered with blood, and there seems no longer any doubt that Dunham committed the murder.
